READING

Read the passage and answer the following questions.

I

On a ship, far out at sea, a sailor looks up at the sky. He sees a beautiful white bird. It is flying high up in the sky. It is an albatross. The sailor is happy to see it. Many sailors believe that if they see an albatross, they will have good luck.

Albatrosses are sea birds. They fly over the sea looking for fish to eat. They only go onto land to look after their babies, or 'chicks'. Albatross chicks cannot fly. They live on land until they learn to fly. Their parents bring them fish to eat.

Sometimes an albatross has to fly more than 1,000 km to find fish for its chick. It may be away for two weeks. The chick must learn to fly fast.

When it is four months old, the parents leave it. Then the young albatross must find its own food.

Albatrosses can live for forty or fifty years. Like sailors, they live most of their lives at sea. Perhaps that is why sailors call albatrosses their friends.
